OLD Johnson Motors

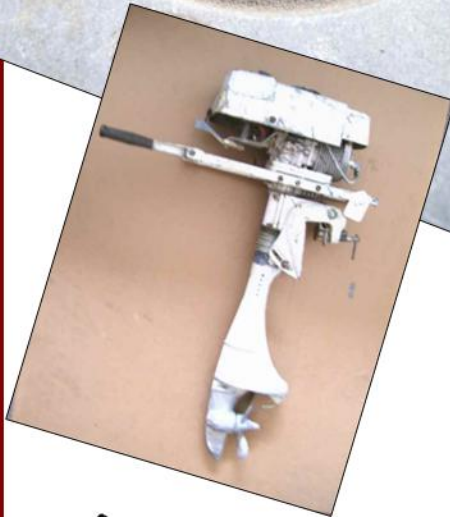

This seller's grandfather was one of the first employees of Johnson Motors in the early 1920s.

Marvin Roggemann stored these motors in the attic of his home for roughly 40 years. These were then left to his son, Dan, in the late 1970s and then given to Dan's son in the early 1990s.

According to Marvin each of the 15 (or so) original employees were allowed to build one motor for their personal use as a company perk.

These were not assembled on the assembly line. Rather, the entire motor was hand assembled.

This motor, part of the Old Johnson Motors, Log 500 Lenses, MORE! GREAT! Auction currently running through Littlejohn Auctions On Line Department is available to you, our bidders, in it's original crate.
